Trump poll indictment revised to skirt SC's 'broad immunity' ruling

Kamala Agrees To Sit For First Interview As Prez Nominee Amid Maga Criticism That She's Avoiding Press Questions

Chidanand Rajghatta | TNN

Washington: In a US presidential election where optics is playing a major role, Kamala Harris will sit with CNN on Thursday for her first interview as the Democratic nominee even as her Republican opponent Donald Trump has confirmed he will debate her on September 10 on ABC News.

The twin media-related developments comes amid the US justice department filing a revised indictment related to Trump's effort to subvert the 2020 prez election. The superseding indictment tries to get around the Supreme Court ruling that the US president has broad immunity for official actions by revising the charges to show some of Trump's actions were directed in his private capacity.

In a post online, Trump accused special counsel Jack Smith, a Biden administration appointee, of trying to "resurrect a dead witch hunt", calling it a "ridiculous" attempt to interfere with the Nov election.

The US decision to withdraw fully from Afghanistan and virtually cede the country to the Taliban was made during the final days of the Trump presidency, but the actual pull-out took place when Biden had become prez. The issue of who was responsible for the debacle has sharply divided the US military, with many veterans who served in Afghanistan going public on social media, blaming one or the other side.

It will be one of several issues that will confront Harris — who MAGA Republicans taunt for "being the last person in the room" when Biden oversaw the pullout — when she sits down for her interview with CNN's Dana Bash on Thursday. Pilloried for weeks for avoiding the press, Harris is now being harried by Trump loyalists for scheduling a joint interview — her running mate Tim Walz will also sit in — which they alleged was being pre-taped and would be edited, and that too on a cable network they say is soft on Democrats.

Trump, meanwhile, continued to spew out what Harris supporters described as arrant nonsense in a series of interviews with media Democrats say is sympathetic to him. "I guarantee if Jesus came down and was the vote counter, I would win California," he said in one interview. California, a Democratic bastion, last voted Republican when Ronald Reagan ran for the White House. In another post, Trump confirmed that he will debate Harris on Sept 10. "I have reached an agreement with the Radical Left Democrats for a Debate with Comrade Kamala Harris," he wrote. Efforts to portray Harris as a "communist" and "Marxist" doesn't seem to be making any dent in her numbers.

Bangladesh interim govt revokes Hasina's ban on Jamaat-e-Islami

AKM Moinuddin

Dhaka: Bangladesh's interim govt lifted with immediate effect Wednesday the ban on Jamaat-e-Islami and its student wing, Islami Chhatra Shibir, stressing that the organisations are not involved in terrorist activities. The ministry of home affairs issued a notification withdrawing the ban imposed by the Sheikh Hasina-led and now ousted Awami League govt. "We can't be part of that narrative," law adviser Asif Nazrul said, adding that they feel Awami League did not ban Jamaat-Shibir on any moral ground.

Nazrul said there were demands from various quarters but Awami League did not ban Jamaat in the last 15 years but did so at a special moment during the students' movement. Govt says in its gazette notification that there is no specific evidence of Jamaat, Shibir and its front organisations being involved in terrorist activities and that govt believes the organisations are not involved in terrorist activities.

Earlier, on Aug 1, the Hasina govt issued a notification banning Bangladesh Jamaat-e-Islami, Chhatra Shibir, and all related organisations under anti-terrorism laws. A high court ruling of Aug 1, 2013 had declared the registration of Jamaat-e-Islami null and void, and on Dec 7, 2018, Election Commission issued a notification cancelling its registration. A Jamaat-e-Islami appeal was dismissed on Nov 19, 2023 by Supreme Court's appellate division.

Jamaat-e-Islami's amir, Shafiqur Rahman, said Tuesday Awami League's govt had destroyed all institutions. These need to be fixed first before holding the next national polls, he told journalists working for Indian media at an office in Dhaka's Moghbazar. He said Hasina should not have left the country in the face of the student-led mass uprising. This is unbecoming of a politician, he said, adding, "It would have been better had Ganabhaban (PM's official residence) not been overrun."

Int'l students lack basic English skills; UK edu in danger: Report

Naomi Canton

London: A significant proportion of international students at British universities do not meet the basic requirements, especially in English language skills, to obtain their degrees, yet are still being awarded them, a blog by two anonymous professors at Russell Group institutions has claimed.

The blog, published by the Higher Education Policy Institute, states: "We don't know how so many students with inadequate English language skills are managing to get admitted. We also don't know how these students are managing to pass their degrees (despite often failing their initial assessments)." The problem is most acute in master's programmes and poses serious long-term risk to the international standing of UK higher education, the professors claim.

Indians are the largest cohort of international students to the UK, followed by Chinese, Nigerians, Pakistanis and Americans. Majority (81%) of Indians came to the UK to read a master's. There were 110,006 study visas granted to Indians in the year ending June 2024.

"Master's-level teaching used to be rich, challenging and enjoyable," the academics wrote. "A master's seminar now typically involves a cohort in which three-quarters of the students are from a single country, a few are from elsewhere, and one or two are home students. Only a very small number have the English language skills necessary for meaningful seminar discussions."

Many students rely on apps to provide real-time translation of spoken content, forcing professors to change the content, style and pace of classes. "Open questions to the whole class are often met with silence," the academics said. This is having a "detri mental impact on staff mental health as staff 'deliver' classes that are well below de m standard". One-to-one seminars are "particularly excruciating". "We have regularly encountered students who are unable to understand simple questions like 'What have you read on this topic?'" they said.

There are increasing student complaints about the "dire situation". The professors wrote, "We now advise our best students to go overseas."

They blame underfunding by UK govt, "a marketised higher education system", and the use of recruitment agencies, and say there is a cultural

Israel launches major military op in W Bank

Hamas Says 10 Fighters Killed, Calls Raid Part Of War Expansion

Al-Faraa Refugee Camp (West Bank): Israeli forces launched a large operation in the occupied West Bank overnight and into Wednesday, killing at least 10 Hamas militants, carrying out arrests and sealing off the volatile city of Jenin. The ongoing operation was among the largest in West Bank in months, and a reminder that the Israeli-Palestinian conflict extends far beyond the war in Gaza. Israel says it is rooting out militants to prevent attacks, while Palestinians fear it intends to broaden the war and expel them from territories they want for a future state.

Aus jails Pak-origin man for sex abuse of 286 in 20 nations

Melbourne: A Pakistani-origin man has been sentenced to 17 years in jail for over one of the worst online child sexual abuse schemes in Australia, targeting hundreds of victims in the country and overseas by pretending to be a 15-year-old social media influencer with a large following.

Muhammad Zain Ul Abideen Rasheed, 29, pleaded guilty to 119 charges, relating to 286 people from 20 countries, including the UK, US, Japan and France. Two-thirds of his victims were aged under 16, BBC News reported.

A Perth court heard Rasheed coerced them into a cycle of extreme abuse by threatening to send explicit images of them to their loved ones. He pretended to be a YouTube star and blackmailed children into performing sexual acts including those involving pets or other young siblings.

Judge Amanda Burrows said there was "no comparable case ... I can find in Australia", adding that Rasheed's offending was aggravated by the fact he abused victims with groups of other adults, inviting paedophiles to watch live streams of kids performing the acts.

Rasheed is already serving a five-year term for separate crime in which he sexually abused a minor in his car on two occasions. AP

Pavel Durov faces Paris judge for possible charges on illegal content

Paris: Pavel Durov, the founder and chief of Telegram, was to appear in a French court Wednesday to face possible charges of failing to curb extremist and illegal content on the messaging app after his arrest at the weekend. Russian-born Durov, 39, was arrested at Le Bourget airport outside Paris on Saturday.

After almost four days of questioning in detention by French investigators he was handed over to judicial authorities who will decide further measures, a source close to the case said. A Paris investigating magistrate will decide whether to press charges against Durov, and the judiciary would then rule on whether he will be remanded in custody or allowed to go free, possibly under judicial control with curbs on his movements.

As part of a probe that was confidentially opened on July 8, Durov is being investigated on suspicion of 12 offences related to failing to curb extremist and criminal content on Telegram, sources have said. The tech mogul founded Telegram as he was in the process of quitting his native Russia a decade ago. Its growth has been exponential, with the app now reporting over 900 million users.

Numerous questions have been raised about the timing and circumstances of Durov's detention, with supporters seeing him as a freedom of speech champion and detractors as a menace who wilfully allowed Telegram to get out of control. Prez Macron has said "in no
